Vital Records and the Calendar Change of 1752

This talk introduces the wealth of information found in birth, marriage, and death records. Learn how to obtain vital records created at the various levels of the U.S. government: federal, state, county, and town. There will be also a discussion of the calendar change of 1752 (and similar changes in other countries) and how it affects genealogical research.

Janice M. Sellers is a professional genealogist specializing in Jewish, black, dual citizenship, and newspaper research. She serves on the board of San Francisco Bay Area Jewish Genealogical Society, is the president of Jewish Genealogical Society of Oregon, and coordinates the African American Special Interest Group of the Genealogical Forum of Oregon. She is also a member of Association of Professional Genealogists, Council for the Advancement of Forensic Genealogy, and Genealogical Speakers Guild. Her Web site is ancestraldiscoveries.com.
