Focused Research: Using Research Plans

Do you feel like your research results go in circles, that you keep finding the same information, or you have brick walls you cannot solve? Being focused on your research will bring better results. This can be done by using research plans. I will explain how to create and use a research plan to help keep you focused on your research and get better results.

Lisa Gorrell - is a Certified Genealogist®. She has served on boards of several genealogical societies and is currently the recording secretary with the Contra Costa County Historical Society, where she volunteers at their archives. She enjoys giving genealogy presentations and writing about her family on two blogs: “Mam-ma’s Southern Family”

<http://mam-massouthernfamily.blogspot.com/> and “My Trails into the Past”

<http://mytrailsintothepast.blogspot.com/>. She has written a three-generation family history about her husband’s Swedish ancestors.
